Director

Urban Design Lab

With qualifications in architecture and landscape architecture, Lisa has experience spanning landscape design, urban design, architecture, strategic planning, and the analysis and appraisal of the built environment.

She has held design leadership roles in the urban, site and built form design of key infill developments within the Perth region and is a current member of the City of Cockburn and the City of Stirling Design Review Panels.

Lisa's expertise in site analysis and site design for complex higher density development, along with her broad qualifications and experience provides the Panel with a cross-disciplinary and wholistic perspective.
