Peter Ciemitis brings over 40 years of urban design and planning experience and artistic aesthetics to the State Design Review Panel.

He holds a Bachelor of Arts in Urban and Regional Planning, a Graduate Diploma in Urban and Regional Studies from Curtin University and was trained at the Claremont School of Art. He was the recipient of the 1999 inaugural Russell Taylor Award for Excellence in Urban Design and the 2014 PIA (Planning Institute of Australia) WA Planner of the Year.

Peter has had a varied career spanning urban design and has served on close to 20 boards and panels over the years, including 10 years on the City of Perth Design Advisory Committee. He has designed over 30 estates, various waterfronts, town centres and infill projects. Peter is also a practicing artist and consults in cultural planning.
